State Policy Manager

Full Time Position

HELP US GROW CLEAN ENERGY INDUSTRIES

The Washington, DC-based company that manages the American Biogas Council, Technology Transition Corporation (TTC), has an immediate full-time opening for an energetic individual motivated to promote clean energy technologies and build their career in clean and renewable energy. This position will support the American Biogas Council (ABC), the voice of the US biogas industry, and its Mid-Atlantic chapter.

Key elements of this position:

- Passion for Policy—this person will support the ABC Executive Director by leading the state policy program and policy-heavy Mid-Atlantic Chapter, starting with identifying legislation or regulations that impact the biogas industry and evaluating whether action should be taken to support, oppose or amend.
- Exceptional written and verbal communication skills—whether you are lobbying, selling memberships or sponsorships, educating key audiences, or reporting on the market, electronic communication is our main tool and you must be able to write clearly and succinctly with an affinity for excellent customer service. You should also be prepared to testify in state legislatures on behalf of the ABC.
- Exemplary organization skills—Everyone has different ways of staying organized and we welcome all forms, but yours must be excellent in a way that encourages good organization and responsiveness from our organizations' members and your fellow staff alike.
- Bonus points for: marketing skills, event management experience, aptitude for design, advanced website editing, SalesForce.
- Why don't any of these elements have anything to do with experience with renewable energy or biogas? That's the easy part to mentor you. We'll support your development, but need to make sure you're hungry enough to keep the learning curve steep. These are the foundational skills that our team needs to be strong with you as a part of it.

This person will work directly with senior client managers, ABC Directors and members, legislators and their staff, and others to accelerate the development of new biogas systems and reduce barriers slowing industry growth. We offer a dynamic and diverse set of responsibilities that require professional interpersonal skills, initiative, the ability to multitask, and the ability to quickly learn and communicate information to client members. We have a relatively small team of exceptional individuals so expect to dive right in to solving real problems on day one, while you're also getting up to speed on the industries we represent.

Occasional travel will be required at some point, but is unnecessary for at least the remainder of this calendar year. Working in the DC area is preferred, but not required for the right individual. Our office has not yet opened fully although it is accessible for any staff who wish to use it. We are fully set up for working virtually.

ABOUT TTC

Our vision is for a socially responsible and environmentally sustainable future where businesses can thrive.

Technology Transition Corporation, or "TTC" as we refer to ourselves, (www.ttcorp.com) provides advocacy, consulting, and management services to clean energy industries, trade and professional associations.

Since 1986, we have partnered with companies to build coalitions that advance the development of clean energy technologies and other industries. Our clients include Fortune 100 corporations, start-ups, leading universities, and government agencies.

Most people know us because we create and manage non-profit industry trade and professional associations in biomass thermal energy, biogas, biochar, hydrogen and fuel cells, environmental engineering, and with utilities.
